The college year . . . a time to create, experience, search, and discover . . .

We come in Autumn, bringing our separate dreams and fears. The young ones experience the vagueness of orientation, the chaos of registration, and begin to understand the meaning of frustration.

Time disappears in the routine of lectures, study, and exams . . .

*Suddenly, we discover a paradox-- unity from opposition.
New and old become as one, as together we pause to remember . . .*

*Winter comes with silent snow, mischievous witches, holiday banquets,
and of course, our own Santa.*

Talent within our own midst is constantly sought out, discovered, and revealed,

and guest artists come to our campus to inform, enlighten, entertain, and often challenge.

Stunt arrives and "all the world's a stage."

Amid last minute rehearsals, make-up, props, excitement, and tears we learn the lessons not included in the textbooks . . .

The college year . . . a series of familiar routines and events, reinacted in a way that somehow belongs uniquely to 1967-68.

Dedication

Mr. Allen Sanders

To one who loves Wesleyan
and inspired us to seek a place here;
Who firmly believes in the Wesleyan student and her ability to achieve the best for herself and the college as a whole;
Who has stood by us in the arena as well as on the sidelines with advice, encouragement, and devotion;
We extend to you our love and appreciation through the dedication of this Veterropt.

FACULTY and ADMINISTRATION

Diane Crane
Jameslynn Dunn

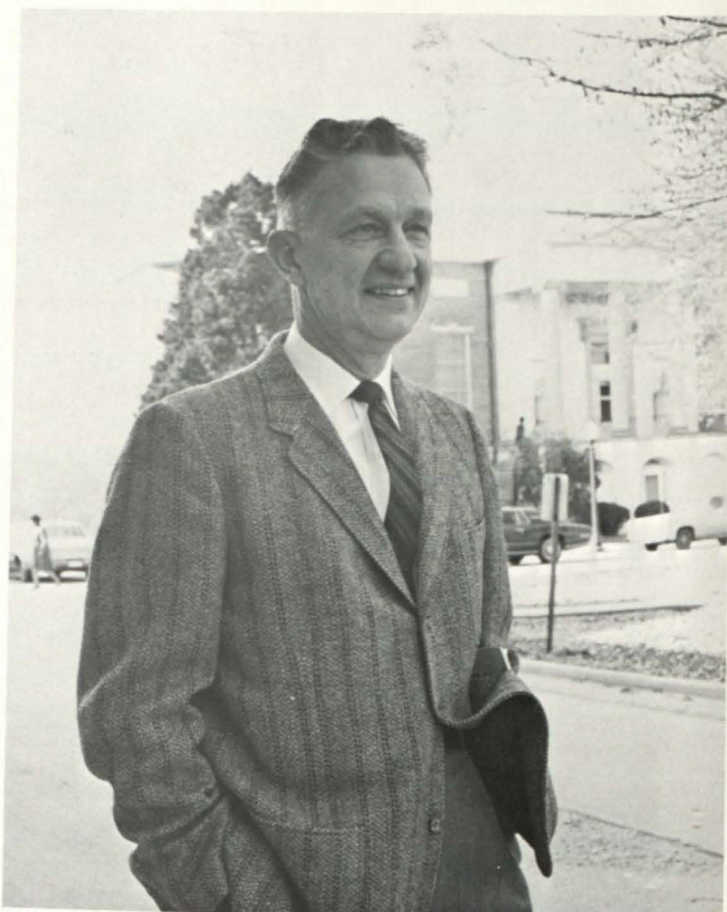

Dr. Earl Strickland
President

Administration

During Dr. Strickland's administration, Wesleyan has undergone many physical and academic changes. An impressive program of expansion has resulted in the construction of the art building, Hightower Dormitory, and the Lucy Lester Willet Library, as well as the air conditioning of Taylor Hall, the redecoration of the Manget Dining Room, and the addition of an antiphonal organ to the Candler pipe organ. Plans have been approved to remodel the Candler Building to accommodate all administrative offices, and space in Taylor Hall now occupied by those offices will be converted into classrooms. There has been a significant increase in enrollment and academic qualifications have been raised each year. An outstanding feature of Dr. Strickland's administration is the increased communication between the students and administration and the greater responsibility that has been given to the student body in governing its actions.

Colonel Wys
Assistant to the President

Dr. Joseph B. James
Academic Dean

Administration

Dr. James, Dean of the College, this year celebrates his tenth anniversary as Wesleyan Academic Dean. Besides his administrative duties at Wesleyan, Dr. James is National President of Pi Gamma Mu, Honor Society.

As Chaplain of the college, Dr. Brown is responsible for arranging chapel programs. Working in close cooperation with the YWCA of which he is an advisor, Dr. Brown has attempted to bring to the campus controversial and thought provoking speakers and programs. In addition to his duties as Chaplain, Dr. Brown teaches courses in Old and New Testament and Philosophy.

Library

This year marked the completion of the Lucy Lester Willet Memorial Library, constructed at a cost of close to $700,000. The new library, fully air-conditioned and carpeted, houses 150,000 volumes. Designed by the firm of Dunwoody, Dunwoody and Associates, Inc., with architect J. Russell Bailey, AIA, as library consultant, the interior of the library provides modern facilities geared to student needs. In addition to 100 individual study carrels, there are areas for typing, listening, reading, and conference available for students.

The opportunity for students to take advantages of the vast resources of this new library represents just one aspect in the expansion of academic facilities. The Candler Building, which formerly housed the library, will be remodeled to accommodate all administrative offices and a museum sponsored by the Alumnae Association.

For Student Use

In addition to textbooks and study aids, the Wesleyan Bookstore offers a variety of merchandise for the convenience of students and faculty. The Infirmary serves students in need of medical aid, with modern facilities and a competent staff. The Post Office and Bank provide services for the entire campus community.

As Alumnae Director, Mrs. Elaine Whitehurst is responsible for all affairs and funds of that association while Mrs. Freda Nadler, Alumnae Editor, edits the magazine which is published quarterly.

Physical Education

This year the Physical Education Department united its majors into an actively functioning organization with elected officers and regular meetings. During the soccer season, the department sponsored a clinic at which Howard Riley, a wing for the Atlanta Chiefs, demonstrated the skills of the game. In January, the annual convention of the Georgia Association of Physical Education for Women was held on campus.

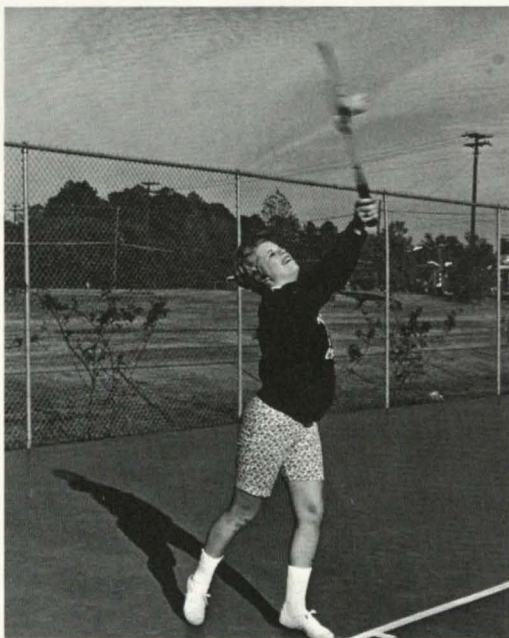

Department members serve as advisors for several student organizations: Mrs. Schafer, Athletic Association; Mrs. Lister, Veterropt; and Miss Leighton, Naiads.

Math and Physical Science

The Department of Math and Physical Science acquired a new member this year, Martin DeBovis, assistant Professor of math and calculus, who came to Wesleyan from the University of Miami. Mr. Don Williams, with his ever-present camera, served as photographer and advisor for the Veteropt. This department offers general courses in the areas of math and the physical sciences and provides an opportunity for more intensive study in these fields.

Psychology

Joining the Psychology Department this year was Mr. Kelly Wells, who came to us from East Carolina College, where he received his A.B. and M.A. degrees and held a teaching fellowship. Dr. Murdoch, the Department Chairman, served as advisor to the Psychology Club. During the year, the Advanced Psychology classes made a field trip to Central State Hospital in Milledgeville to observe methods being used in the treatment of emotionally disturbed and mentally ill persons.

Sociology

Sociology is an important part of the liberal arts school, preparing students for community leadership and informed and responsible citizenship. Students in the department enjoy various field trips, including a visit to Ocmulgee National Park by the anthropology class and a trip to the state penitentiary by the criminology class. The social work class enjoyed several interesting lectures in that field. Topics discussed included "Social Welfare" and "Social Security" work. Mr. Studstill has joined the faculty as part time instructor in sociology and economics.

Left: Cheryl Flanders finds news magazines helpful in furthering her knowledge of world and community affairs. right: Mr. Scarborough receives information concerning the research he did last summer at the Mississippi State Penitentiary.

American Studies

The American Studies major is an interdepartmental study of the total American life. First semester the department's field of concentration was the popular arts such as television and radio. Second semester the students probed the "American Identity." In October, Dr. Strong attended the national meeting of the American Studies Association in Kansas City, Missouri. The spring Lamar Lecture Series, sponsored by the department, was presented by Dr. Ed. Winfield Parks from the University of Georgia, who spoke on Sidney Lanier.

Dr. Leah Strong

Home Economics

Term projects, 800 pralines, reupholstering in "spare" time, essential amino acids, Chippendale and Hepplewhite, Kiddie Lit, lab hours, insurance, fashion, nursery schools, design by draping, Christmas Tea, polyester fibers, more lab hours. Mrs. Gibbs support, Mrs. Phillips inspiration . . . This is Home Economics at Wesleyan.

The course of study in the Home Economics Department includes subjects concerning clothing, foods and nutrition, management of family resources, and child care and development. Most courses were open to all students, but emphasis was placed on preparing those who had chosen home economics as their major for further concentrated study.

Biology

Biology 209, Structure and Function of the Human Body, has been added to the department's curriculum. The course is designed for students other than premedical and biology majors who are interested in the development and growth of children, health of adults, and artistic portrayal of the human form. Another addition was Mrs. Nel Morgan who joined the staff as a technical assistant. Dr. Cowie has been combining her classroom duties with a special experiment in color vision, using her students as subjects.

Religion and Philosophy

In addition to majors in Religion and Religious Education, this department now offers a combined major in Philosophy and Religion. In November, Dr. Edwards, Mr. Stroud, and a group of students attended a lecture in Atlanta on the topic of Main Trends in Chinese Thought. The Philosophy of Religion class was invited to participate in a discussion at Mulberry Methodist Church on the church's ministry to college students. Dr. Brown and Mr. Gilmer both served as advisors to the YWCA, while Mr. Stroud advised AA. Dr. Edwards was the author of several articles which appeared in Motive magazine.

During the fall Mr. Hoskins presented a show of oils and water colors in the East Gallery, and in January Mr. Plum gave an exhibition of his ceramics and weaving. The Senior Exhibition, which is part of the Senior Project for art majors and consists of a one-man show by each student, was presented in May and remained on display until after graduation ceremonies.

Opposite: Mr. Plum points out ways to improve a line drawing. above: Registration is a busy time for Mr. Malone as he helps his advisees select the proper courses for the upcoming semester.

Speech and Theatre

Every Tom, Dick, and Harriet opened this year's series of productions by the Speech and Theatre Department. The light-hearted musical comedy, the creation of seniors Mary Abbott Waite and Janet Robinson, was directed by Dr. Ruys. The second play of the season, To Be Continued, a sophisticated comedy by William Marchant, and the second semester production of Monique were under the direction of Mr. McKinney. The year's final productions were The Bacchae, by Euripides, and the Maastriclet, an Easter play directed by Dr. Ruys. Mrs. Hatfield was chairman of the Fine Arts Festival again this year.

Modern Languages

It has been a year of travel for the Modern Language faculty. Mrs. White returned to Wesleyan this fall after summer study at the University of Salzburg. In November Dr. Sneary and Mr. Wright attended the annual meeting of the South Atlantic Modern Language Association in Atlanta. Then Dr. Reindorp joined them to go to New Orleans for the Southern Conference on Language Teaching. Dr. Sneary attended the Triennial Convention of Phi Sigma Iota and was elected National Treasurer of that honor society.

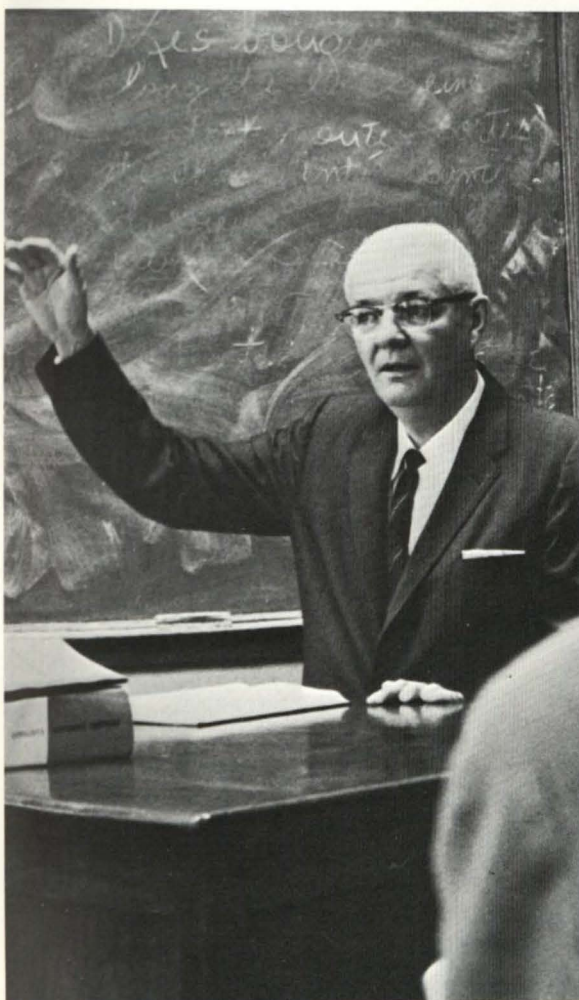

This summer Dr. and Mrs. Reindorp will chaperon a group of students to Monterray Tech in Mexico. Mr. Miller, the department's new Spanish instructor, formerly of Colorado State University, is a candidate for the PhD. degree at the University of Colorado.

Music

Presenting faculty and student recitals, the department of music brings outstanding musicians to Wesleyan's campus for concerts, recitals, and workshops. It functions as an integral part of the campus' religious activities and also sponsors the Glee Club, the Chapel Choir, and the Macon-Wesleyan Orchestra. Membership to these groups requires audition and is open to the entire student body. Newcomers to the music faculty are Mrs. Nancy Rehberg, and Mrs. H. S. Fountain, both Wesleyan alumnae. They serve as part-time instructors substituting for Miss Sylvia Ross.

History-Government

Mr. Robert Everett joined the department this year as assistant professor of history and government. Mr. Everett and his government classes sought to revive political interest on campus through participation in "Choice '68" which brought much enthusiasm about the coming election to the students. Miss Shiver served once again as an advisor to the Veterropt, while Dr. Taylor, the department chairman, advised the History-Government Club.

Education

The Education Department, having the largest number of majors of any department on campus, coordinates the work of the student in her field of concentration with the learning and application of the latest teaching methods. The department supervises nine weeks of student practice teaching, a standard requirement of each senior education major. Given to the students this year was the option to practice either semester. The students taught in the school systems of Atlanta, Columbus, Griffin and Macon.

SENIORS

Miss Senior Class

Gayle Clark

Vergissmeinicht.

"Forget-me-not." No.

Yet ask me not to catalog my recollections.

They are not to be shared out loud;

I savor them selfishly:

October afternoon sun on the soccer field;

after dinner walks with oatmeal cookies in hand;

stubborn Japanese quince in the snow;

a sleepless night with Chaucer my companion;

"Oh Halleujah," my auld lang syne;

a purple hug after a loss;

disliking loneliness because I find myself poor company;

exhilaration in an early May morning . . .

"Oh Earth! You are too beautiful to behold!"
the bard tells me.

Yes, you were.

The bittersweet paradox of awakening

after never having been asleep;

The irony of shadows disappearing

though it remains noon;

Yes. Yes, the days were good,

I am sure. "Forget-me-not" the six o'clock chimes ring out.

I echo in return, "Vergissmeinicht."

SOPHOMORES

Miss Sophomore Class,

Linda Ennis

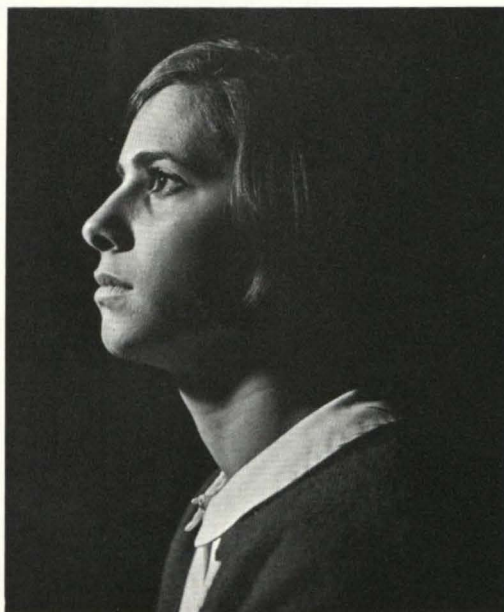

Purple Knights, with enthusiasm and spirit, were United as sophomores by dreams and hopes, joys and sorrows. Rat brought us together in a stronger bond as we united Personalities into a class with common goals and purposes. Loyalties were deep and friendships strong as together we met Each success with pride in accomplishment, and each defeat with honor. Knowing all, yet knowing nothing, we chose our majors. New maturity came as we left teen years behind with Intentions to follow in the unfillable footsteps of our sister class, Green Knights, who leave their name and legacy, to freshman new, with Hands to hold, as ours were held . . . our little sisters now. Though we remember, we look forward too, as Shining new class rings reflect our new junior status.

FRESHMEN

Miss Freshman Class,

Cathy Henson

Impressively ambitious, quietly impatient, unbelievably spirited, the freshman class came to Wesleyan unaware of what lay ahead, but ready for anything. We quickly learned that "The Lettermen" must be put after Biology 105, and watched 25¢ bus fares add up to $$. We encountered drums, torches, chants, and ghastly creatures that put bruises on our knees and the spirit of Wesleyan into our golden hearts. We shared in the Tri-K-Golden Heart sisterhood that will bind our classes at Wesleyan for the coming years. At Homecoming we proved that freshmen had what it took to defeat experienced opponents and capture the coveted Soccer Cup. With paint-splattered blue jeans and a feeling of accomplishment which overshadowed our weariness, we worked our way through our first Stunt victory. These memories are a part of the year just past . . . a year of challenge and victory for the Golden Heart Class of 1971.

Homecoming, 1967 Entertains Alumnae

A Friday night steak dinner by the lake, followed by a folksing and party at the cabin, launched the 1967 Homecoming weekend. The Golden Heart Class of 1967 returned to reminisce during the activities on Saturday. The group watched the individual soccer entrances and the exciting games in the morning. "They Were Very Good Years" was the theme of the Homecoming Banquet, honoring the returning class, at which time the soccer cup was also presented to the Golden Heart Class of 1971. Dates were entertained this year at a stag party during the banquet. Later, everyone enjoyed the music of the Washboard Band in the recreation room. The climax of the weekend came on Saturday night with a semi-formal dance, featuring Maurice Williams and the Zodiacs. Another highlight was the presentation of the Homecoming Queen, Ellen Beard, and her court. An early morning breakfast was a fitting close to the unforgettable Homecoming.

This year's choice, Betsy Martin, was indeed representative of all that Wesleyannes most admire in a fellow student. Betsy was President of SGA, a member of Pi Delta Epsilon, W Club, and her class soccer team. She was a Junior Advisor, a Splinter, a Scribe, and above all a friend.

Student Government Places Responsibility on Students

The Student Government Association is based on the Honor system, and has tried to give the student only the necessary regulations—a system of responsible freedom. This self-governing system is founded on the intelligence, truth, and honor of each student. The Student Government presented mock trials this year in order to further communications between the student and the Association. Charles Weltner was the guest speaker during Honor Week, and a faculty panel created much interest with a discussion of the Honor Code at Wesleyan.

Veterropt Captures 1968 in Picture and Print

Producing a yearbook represents many hours of planning, progressing, and achieving. The staff members of the 1968 Veterropt began their task before the academic year was over last May. Until September it was all a matter of preparation, and then when it came . . . the film began to roll along with picture schedules, layout drawings, and photo and copy request sheets.

To be creative, to be precise, and to have the patience to do the job well required more than seemed to be possible. But with genuine interest and great care, the staff worked together and sought to capture in picture and print this memorable year at Wesleyan.

The Glee Club

Excels in Musical Talent

The Glee Club has performed for a variety of activities throughout the state of Georgia. The Wesleyan Christmas Concert, given by the Glee Club, featured a harpsichord made by Dr. Leon Villard, director of the Glee Club. Tours have taken the group from Nassau to the New England states, where they were on tour this spring.

The Atlanta Symphony, conducted by Robert Shaw, performed in concert on campus, and at that time Mr. Shaw held a choral workshop for the Glee Club.

The Washboard Band Entertains City and State

The fame of the Washboard Band, "Wesleyan's personal public relations group," has spread throughout the state. They have entertained for the Governor's Conference on Tourism and for civic and social organizations.

Many popular and folk songs performed by the group have become as much a Wesleyan tradition as has the band. Its members are Judy Floyd, Anne Plapinger, Nila Winn, Gwen Boardman, Melody Wilson, and Candy Smith who replaced Emmaline Haddle second semester.

Wesleyannes Sing Popular Music

Known for their talent, charm, and poise, the Wesleyannes are a choral ensemble whose members are selected from the Glee Club on the competitive basis. The girls must have been a member of the Glee Club for at least a year, and have participated in the annual tour before they are eligible to audition. The final decision concerning membership rests with the members of the Wesleyannes. Unforgettable for their top entertainment, the girls sing popular and folk songs for students and various civic and social organizations throughout the state of Georgia. A favorite event for Wesleyan students is the annual program held after the Christmas banquet in the Bruden Parlor which climaxes the holiday season.

Naiads

Exhibit Skill and Grace

Naiads gives talented and skilled swimmers an opportunity to further their swimming abilities by developing synchronized swimming skills and techniques. Members are selected from the student body on a competitive basis. In the fall the club presented a demonstration to acquaint the freshmen with the various techniques, formations and stunts utilized in synchronized swimming. The club received an invitation to perform at Jekyll Island for the Governor's Conference on Tourism. In the spring, the pool was transformed into a toy shop, as the Naiads presented their annual show. Costumed as toy soldiers, teddy bears and dolls, the swimmers presented a delightful water show of grace and precision. The Land Crew, who plays an equally important role in the Naiads productions is responsible for the costumes, music, lighting and props used by the Naiads.

Spirit rose to a climax that weekend as the freshmen Golden Hearts won their final game by a score of 4 to 2, defeating the Sophomore P.K.'s and winning the coveted Soccer Cup. Second place went to the Purple Knights. The Tri-K's defeated the Green Knights by a narrow 2 to 1. # Basketball

Creates Intramural Competition

Long and hard hours of practice on the courts benefited all four class teams in the basketball tournament. Close games added to the excitement, and class spirit was at its peak. Besides the fun of playing, the basketball cup provided an extra incentive as each class battled for the prize possession. Chosen by the Physical Education staff, the temporary co-captains, and the senior representative to the Athletic Association, the four teams represented their respective classes well. Even when competition was keenest, the players exhibited good sportsmanship and true enjoyment of the game.

Stunt Provides Scholarships

The ultimate goal and purpose of Stunt Night is to provide the YWCA Quillian Scholarship, the Emmett S. Johnson Scholarship, and the Samuel L. Akers Scholarship to students selected from the rising senior class. Early in November all four classes met at the same hour in designated places. Their purpose was to elect the five people who would work together to create a unique presentation. With these five girls and the president of that class rest the complete responsibility of organizing and planning in detail thirty minutes of entertainment. Only too soon December 14 arrived and stunts were hastily turned over to the Reading Committee.

On February 19 the stunts were read by the stunt committees to their classes. Next came the casting of the various parts. The classes began work on props, backdrops, and costumes with a limit of fifty dollars to spend on their stunt and less than three weeks to get them ready. With Stunt there is excitement, disappointment, laughter, adventures . . . the togetherness that is very much an active part of Wesleyan.

Freshmen

Present Pilldom's Progress

Because of the increasing dependency of the human race on everyday medicines, the world of pills has become a danger-menace to mankind. The pills themselves, face extinction as LSD entered the scene. Through collaboration with the germs, the pills overcame this threat as they victoriously waged a "cold" war. Again in power, the pills repoiced in song and dance, winning the 1968 Stunt Cup.

Stage an American Dream

Everyone wanted in on the act. Congressmen were tap dancing; Child stars were playing politicians; Senators made records; Actors made laws. Nobody liked what they were doing, and the President really wanted to be a cowboy.

Juniors

Cooki Bogan

The cold statue with an overwhelming warmth that few ever saw

The little girl . . . childlike in her eagerness to grasp and understand

The devoted one, absorbed in a project or term paper . . . intolerant of interruption

The frank one . . . bitingly sincere, yet admirable honest

The gentle soul with a kind touch and soft spoken word for those she truly loved.

Cooki . . . not quite finished with today before she was living tomorrow.

C'est fini . . .

This year has been one of changes. We have reorganized, planned, and worked to do the job well. Some of us with talent, some of us without — and yet all with the same goal. We have had times of disappointment and frustration, but we kept moving — step by step — late at night and early in the morning, steadfast to our goal. Even when the electricity failed us — we continued to work. This book represents you as a part of Wesleyan — it is even more to us, and we hope you like it. We do.
